

SPECIAL TAXES
ON MINES VOIDCarranza Abolishes Everything But the Federal Tax in Mexico.

Copies have been received in El Paso of a decree issued by Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the de facto government of Mexico, annulling all special taxes placed on mines in Mexico or decrees of state governors or other state officials.

The decree asserts that with the central government alone rests the power to issue laws binding throughout the territory of the republic in regard to the mining industry, commerce, banking institutions, forests, national lands, water of federal jurisdiction, fishing in territorial waters and with regard to the organization of labor connected with the various industries, and for this reason the decree asserts that "the governors of the different states cannot issue laws or decrees nor dictate rulings or administrative dispositions affecting" any of these things.

The result of the decree is to abolish all special state or district taxes imposed by petty officials upon the mining industry of Mexico and to make the federal tax supreme as the only legal tax which mine owners will have to pay.

The decree closes with the declaration that "all the laws, decrees and dispositions that have been given of that might be issued in the future by the governors of the different states applying on the industrial branches referred to are void and without any value or legal effect whatever."

REVIEW FOR GEN.
BELL BY DIVISIONPennsylvanians Pay Compliment to Regular Army Commander Here.

Major Gen. Chas. M. Clement, commanding the seventh Demosthenian division, has tendered a review for Brig. Gen. Bell, Jr., who commands the border patrol at El Paso, and Gen. Bell has accepted the tender. The ceremony will be held at some future date following the return of Gen. Bell from the motor trip which he expects to make with a brigade of troops to Elephant Butte dam and back. Gen. Clement is the ranking officer on the border and the tender of a review of his division to Gen. Bell, an officer of junior rank, is such a compliment to show Gen. Bell the appreciation the Pennsylvanians feel for the many courtesies he has extended them since their arrival on the border.

Gen. Clement spent all of yesterday and much of today motorizing over the motor coach covered plains selecting a location for the review maneuvers for his division, which are to take place soon.

The sanitary corps and the signal corps of the division have been making practice hikes this week.

CANNED BEEF FOR MEXICAN TROOPSChicago Representative of Packery Sells Carranza
$449,350 Worth.

One of the largest beef contracts on record has just been closed by Anton W. Wooble, border representative of Meigs & Co., the Chicago packers, with the de facto government of Mexico. The order, when filled, will amount to $449,350, shipments to be distributed over a term of several weeks.

This meat all of it canned, will be used to help feed the Carranza troops, according to Mr. Wooble, who arrived in El Paso Thursday by automobile, after a 10 days' trip from Monterey.

"I dealt personally with president Carranza," Mr. Wooble said, "and found him a keen business man. The money for the meat is to be paid in gold and I believe it is the largest single order that has ever been placed since the Mexican troubles started."

Travis Hunning.

"My trip from Mexico was a rather difficult one because in places the roads were very bad. However, it gave me and my party a chance to see the country in a way that would have been impossible by train. The railroads in Mexico are now running on practically the normal schedule."

"I believe the Carranza influence will remain predominant in Mexico, as the first chief seems to be a broadhearted man. I look for a peaceful settlement of the difficulties south of the line, with Carranza still at the helm. What this will mean in a business way to the United States is exemplified by the big contracts that are now being entered into."

Mr. Wooble, who is a German, speaks eight different languages.

First Army Observation
Balloon On the Border Is To Be Given Test Here

Out at the plant of the El Paso Refining company in East El Paso, a great cigar shaped bag is slowly taking form and will be straining at its guy ropes by Sunday.

It is the military observation balloon which the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, O., has presented to the Ohio national guard on the border through battery B, of the first Ohio artillery, which is the Akron command here. The big balloon is being filled with hydrogen gas at the refining plant and will require 25,000 cubic feet of gas before it is fully inflated and ready for the test trip over the army camps.

Sergeant Ralph Upson, of battery B, is in charge of the balloon as an aviation expert. He was the winning pilot in the James Gordon Bennett balloon cup race in Paris in 1913 and is an expert in affairs of the balloon as an aviation expert. The big balloon is valued at $10,000. The basket will carry four passengers and the balloon is similar to those in use in the European war zone. It is expected that it will be a week before the balloon will be ready for the test trip.

YAKUIS ARE DRIVING

MEXICANS FROM VALLEY

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 15.—The Yaqui Indians in Sonora from whom belated claims are gradually driving Mexicans out of the Yaqui river valley and regaining control of their ancestral lands, according to Americans arriving here from the south.

The Indians dominate practically all of the district between Tecoripa and Sonoyta, undisputed. Tecoripa and Tepic mark the north boundary of Indian territory. Two aggressive Yaqui leaders, Col. J. Jimenez and Col. Francisco Anicheta are preparing a campaign by which it is hoped to dislodge them from the country they have overrun and drive them into the Bacata mountains.

Only eight farmers out of 150 have returned to the Richardson construction company tract around Esperanza. Two of these are Americans and the other six Germans.

VILLISTAS TAKE JULIMES,

IS REPORT ON BORDER

Presidio, Tex., Sept. 15.—Villistas have taken the important town of Julimes, southeast of Chihuahua city, according to advices reaching the border here. Villa himself is said to have joined his troops at Julimes.

Before occupying Julimes, the Villistas are reported to have engaged government troops at Mequill.

For Independence DayComparatively little green, white,

Friday morning, when the festivities
for the Mexican independence day

The national emblem floated from the custom house, the courthouse, and a few other public buildings, while a few of the more enterprising merchants had decorated their store fronts with the tricolor.

COL. TAMEZ MAY CHANGE

FROM LEGALISTA TO VILLISTA

Col. Mariano Tamez, who revolted from the Juarez commandancia over a month ago, was reported Friday as being near Aldama, about 20 miles north-east of Chihuahua City, at the head of 200 men.

Tamez is operating as an independent rebel at present, it is believed, but Americans closely in touch with Mexican affairs express the opinion that a junction between Tamez and Villa might be expected at any time.

When Tamez left Juarez, the military authorities there insisted that he did not have more than ten men. Since that time, however, as many as 400 soldiers have been reported as following the rebel colonel.

MICHIGAN INFANTRY MEN

ORDERED TO CARRY ARMS

Members of company I, 31st Michigan infantry, were ordered Tuesday to carry arms any time they go into the town of Clint, owing to the suspected existence of Villa sympathizers there.

Nineteen men are continuously stationed on the international line there to prevent crossing of Mexican bandits or soldiers and smuggling of arms from this country.

Capt. Albert E. Wilson, company I, in command there, has forbidden the men of his command to enter the town of Clint settled by Mexicans, owing to possible ill feeling on their part against the soldiers.

ARMY AIRMEN MAKE TEST

FLIGHT TO DOUGLAS, ARIZ.

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 15.—Lieuts. Thomas D. Bowen and Carl Spates, of the army aero corps, arrived here today after a test flight from Columbus, S. M. The flight was said to be the first of a series of tests for the army planes and aviators.

Mark Hanna's Grandson
Breaking Rocks In Camp
When Invited to Dinner

Dan R. Hanna, the son of Dan Hanna, of Cleveland, and grandson of the late Mark Hanna, is learning soldiering on the border, just as he learned newspaper work on his father's journals in Cleveland—from the ground up. Young Hanna, who inherits his grandfather's famous smile, is a "high private in the rear ranks" of troop A, first squadron of cavalry, from Ohio.

At the mobilization camp in Ohio, friends who came to take Mr. Hanna to a dinner party found him breaking rocks for a minute recreation of the rules.

"It's all in the game," smiled the millionaire's son, "if I wasn't doing this some one else would have to do it."

Mr. Hanna is not lonesome for companions of his own set in El Paso, as the Ohio contingent has a high average of millionaire youths. One of these is Howard P. Feels, son of an old and wealthy Cleveland family. Another is French Leveque, who has brought down a few of his polo ponies for his stay on the border.

Ralph Perkins, King Talles and "Bob" Dempsey are other young men from prominent Ohio families now in camp here. The new "rubber millionaires" of Akron, Ohio, are represented among the troops by Dan M. Boone, Fred Schofield and C. F. Walker.
